In Dedication

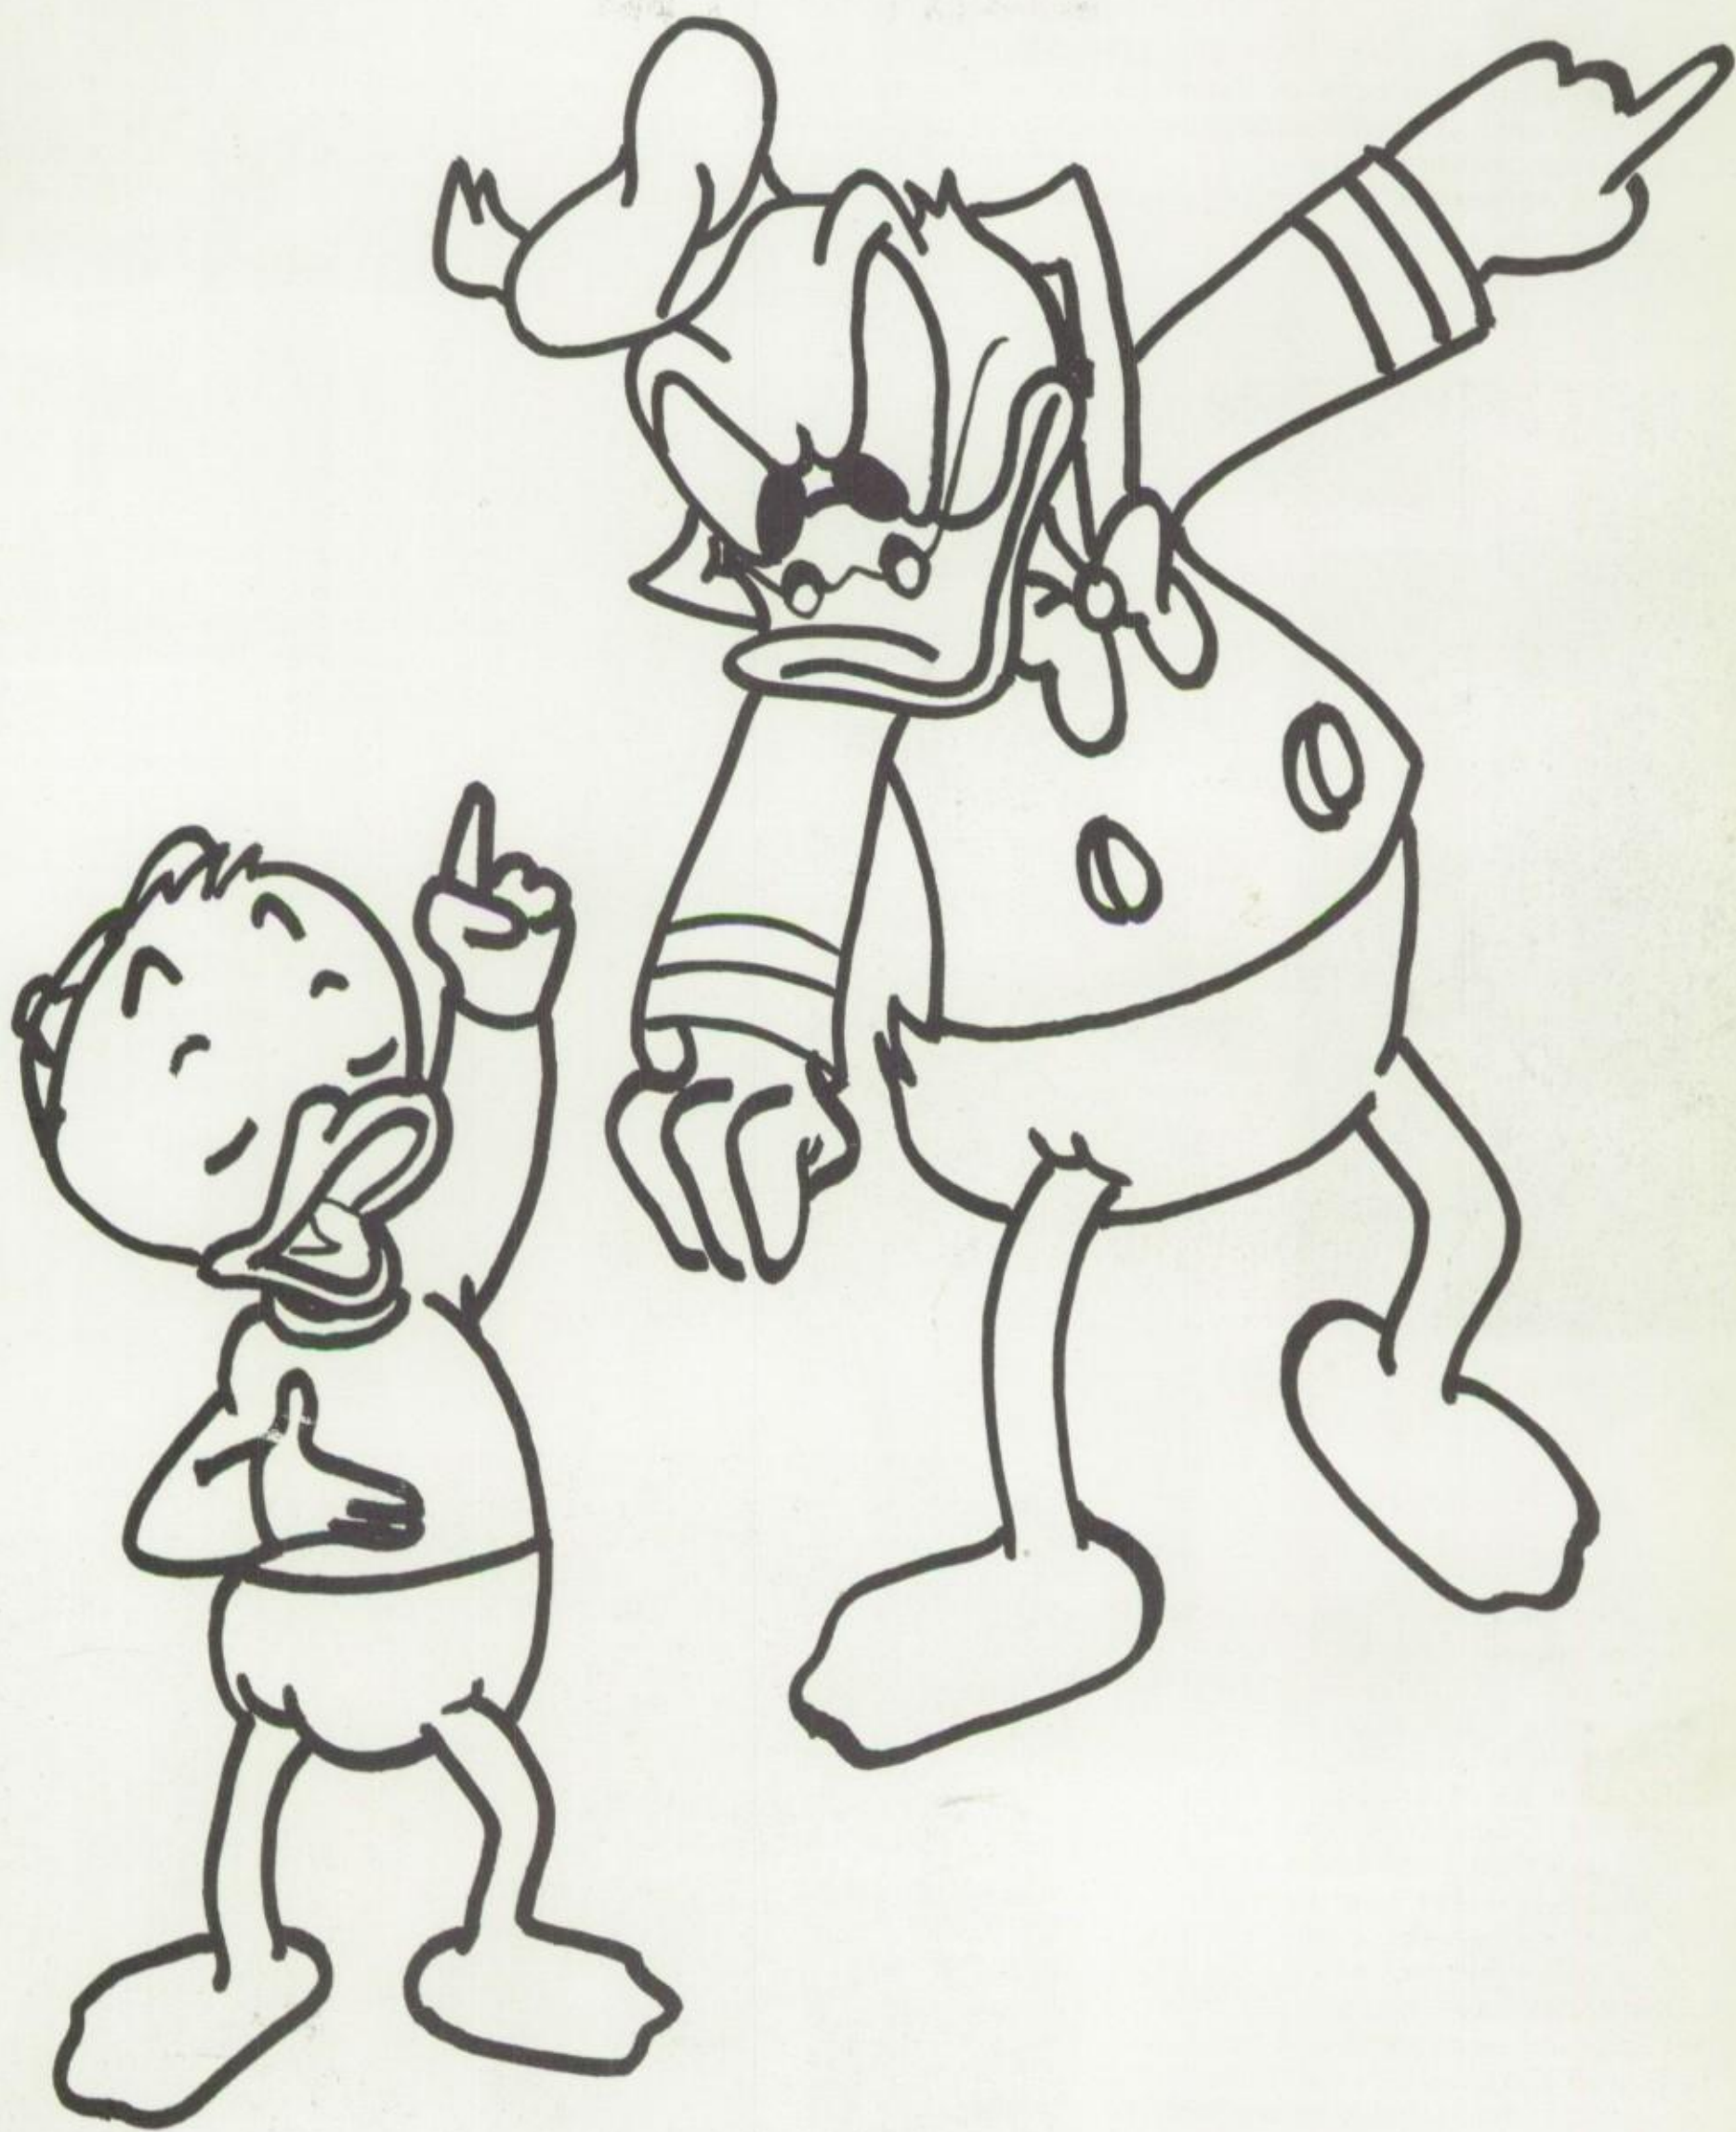

We, the students of Zumbrota High School, would like to express our deepest appreciation to Miss Thalia Lines, the school librarian and to Mr. Harvey Knutson and Mr. Leonard Berg, the high school custodians. The services they have provided for the students have made them truly respected and appreciated by students of Zumbrota High.

Miss Lines first came to Zumbrota as the school librarian in 1957. Since then she has occupied constantly with the enrichment and expansion of the school libraries. Miss Lines has gone out of her way many times to locate materials for students needing help, and she has even gone so far as to order special materials for the students. Not only has Miss Lines been an excellent librarian, but she has been a true friend to the students. Miss Lines, because you care and because we care, we proudly dedicate the 1963 annual to you.

Mr. Berg and Mr. Knutson have long occupied a place in the hearts of ZHS students. They have earned this place by performing services, beyond their duties, to be of assistance to students. Countless have been the times that they have helped students look for lost articles or have opened the door to allow books to be retrieved. Yes, our custodians have been truly wonderful; and because they have, it is hoped that this dedication will in some way let them know that even if we don't always appear grateful, that at all times we sincerely appreciate everything they have done for us. Mr. Knutson and Mr. Berg, we proudly dedicate the 1963 annual to you.

ADMINISTRATION

Faculty Stimulates Thinking

An important part of the teacher's task is to stimulate thinking and thus to cause learning to develop and advance.

Here at Z.H.S., teachers not only aid students in the field of knowledge and the development of skills; but they try to instill in pupils proper ideals, attitudes and beliefs.

SENIOR CLASS

Senior Honor Students

Each year Senior Honor Students are selected on the basis of their scholastic achievement. Along with the Valedictorian, Polly Klug, and the Salutatorian, Sally Jo Nelson, four honor students with an academic average of 90 or above were chosen. These honor students were Jean Fennie, Ruth Deden, Ardis Hoeft, and Margo Maas.

Seniors Pass in Review

With every graduating class there is a characteristic suited to them, and to them alone. Sometimes scholarship, sometimes dramatic ability, and still others are blessed with unusually fine athletes. The most appropriate characteristic for the graduating class of 1963 is their enthusiasm for fun.

Zumbrota's class of 1963 began to become acquainted with one another during elementary school years and discovered each other's sense of fun. When the Homecoming floats were being planned in those days, the '63-ers always seemed to come up with a winning idea. Fun, hard work, and loyalty went into those floats.

Then came junior and senior high school. Junior high was met, challenged and conquered. As sophomores, class members learned the secret of success was independence and persistence. A nickname latched onto earlier which has stuck with the '63-ers, and quite appropriately, was "Rebel Rousers." That they certainly are!

Thus, the 1963 graduates of Zumbrota High School are reviewed. For each and every senior, the year has been a rewarding one; yet at times a terrifying challenge which had to be met. Let's hope the years ahead bring success and happiness to all.

Senior Class Officers

These are the senior class officers who helped the class meet the projects and problems of the year. Ardis Hoeft, Treasurer; Ruth Deden, Secretary; Polly Klug, President; Sally Nelson, Vice P.; and seated is Mr. Gordon LeBoutillier, class advisor.

REBELS '63

Most of us have been together for nigh on thirteen years-- we've been through the good and the bad-- but we think we'll all agree (If you just ask us)
we're the best Zumbrota's ever had!

We may have been slow to get things going,
for instance, magazine sales,
but now all the subscriptions that we've piled up keep magazines in the mails.

Now this is the last year that we will be together,
and most of us are relieved.
We're out of school and on our own to see just what the world has to give and we to receive.

Tigers Tie for H.V.L. Championship

The Tiger Gridmen fought their way through the 1962 season to tie with Kenyon for conference honors. Seven victories against only one defeat was the season record for the surprising Tigers. By virtue of holding their opponents to less than one touchdown per game, the best defensive effort in the history of Z.H.S. football was displayed.

Four straight victories, including a well-earned win from Kenyon, started the successful Tiger season. Next came the Homecoming game and the only Tiger loss for the season as the Z.H.S. men bowed to Kasson-Mantorville in a 7-6 heartbreaker. This loss broke a fourteen game Tiger winning streak which had built up over the past two seasons.

With hopes still high the team went on to trounce Lake City. Next, the high-spirited Tigers won a tough battle by downing St. Charles. The Tigers then finished the season by defeating Stewartville.

Tigers Show Spark but Finish Fifth

The Tigers had a trying beginning in basketball for the 1962-1963 season, yet finished fifth in the conference with six wins and eight loses. Total wins and loses, including non-conference games and tournament games, were seven wins and ten loses. The Tiger players were influenced by Keith Burfeind and Dale Lothar who illustrated their showy rebounding and defensive play. Also contributing to Tiger "vigah" was the consistent scoring of Bob Koenig, Dale Lothar, and Pete Sandberg. Although not a consistent scorer, Keith Burfeind often came up with a high point total to allow the team many of their victories. Bob Koenig provided the additional spark needed by his aggressive hustling and scrapping. Bob, according to coach Mettler, was the best all-around individual of this year's team. All and all the Tigers defensively outshined all opponents in the league as they allowed an average of only 48.2 points per game.

Many more games were nearly won but were lost in the last few seconds. As the season wore on, the Tigers developed from just a first half ball team to a team that had spark up through the final seconds of the game.

Few realize the great contributions the team did make, yet the viewers know the Tigers tried their best!

"CAPTAIN SID"

Track Team Best Ever

This year's track season possibly has been the best Zumbrota has ever had. Not only has there been individual strength in certain fields, but overall ability has proven Zumbrota to be a strong track school. Zumbrota's tremendous team broke a school record in some event or another in almost every meet.

Norman Ayen, senior track star, broke the 180-yard low hurdles record with a 21.3.

Two stars, juniors Steve Jacobson and Pete Sandburg, broke the pole vault record. Steve broke it first with his eleven foot vault and then Pete with his 11'2".

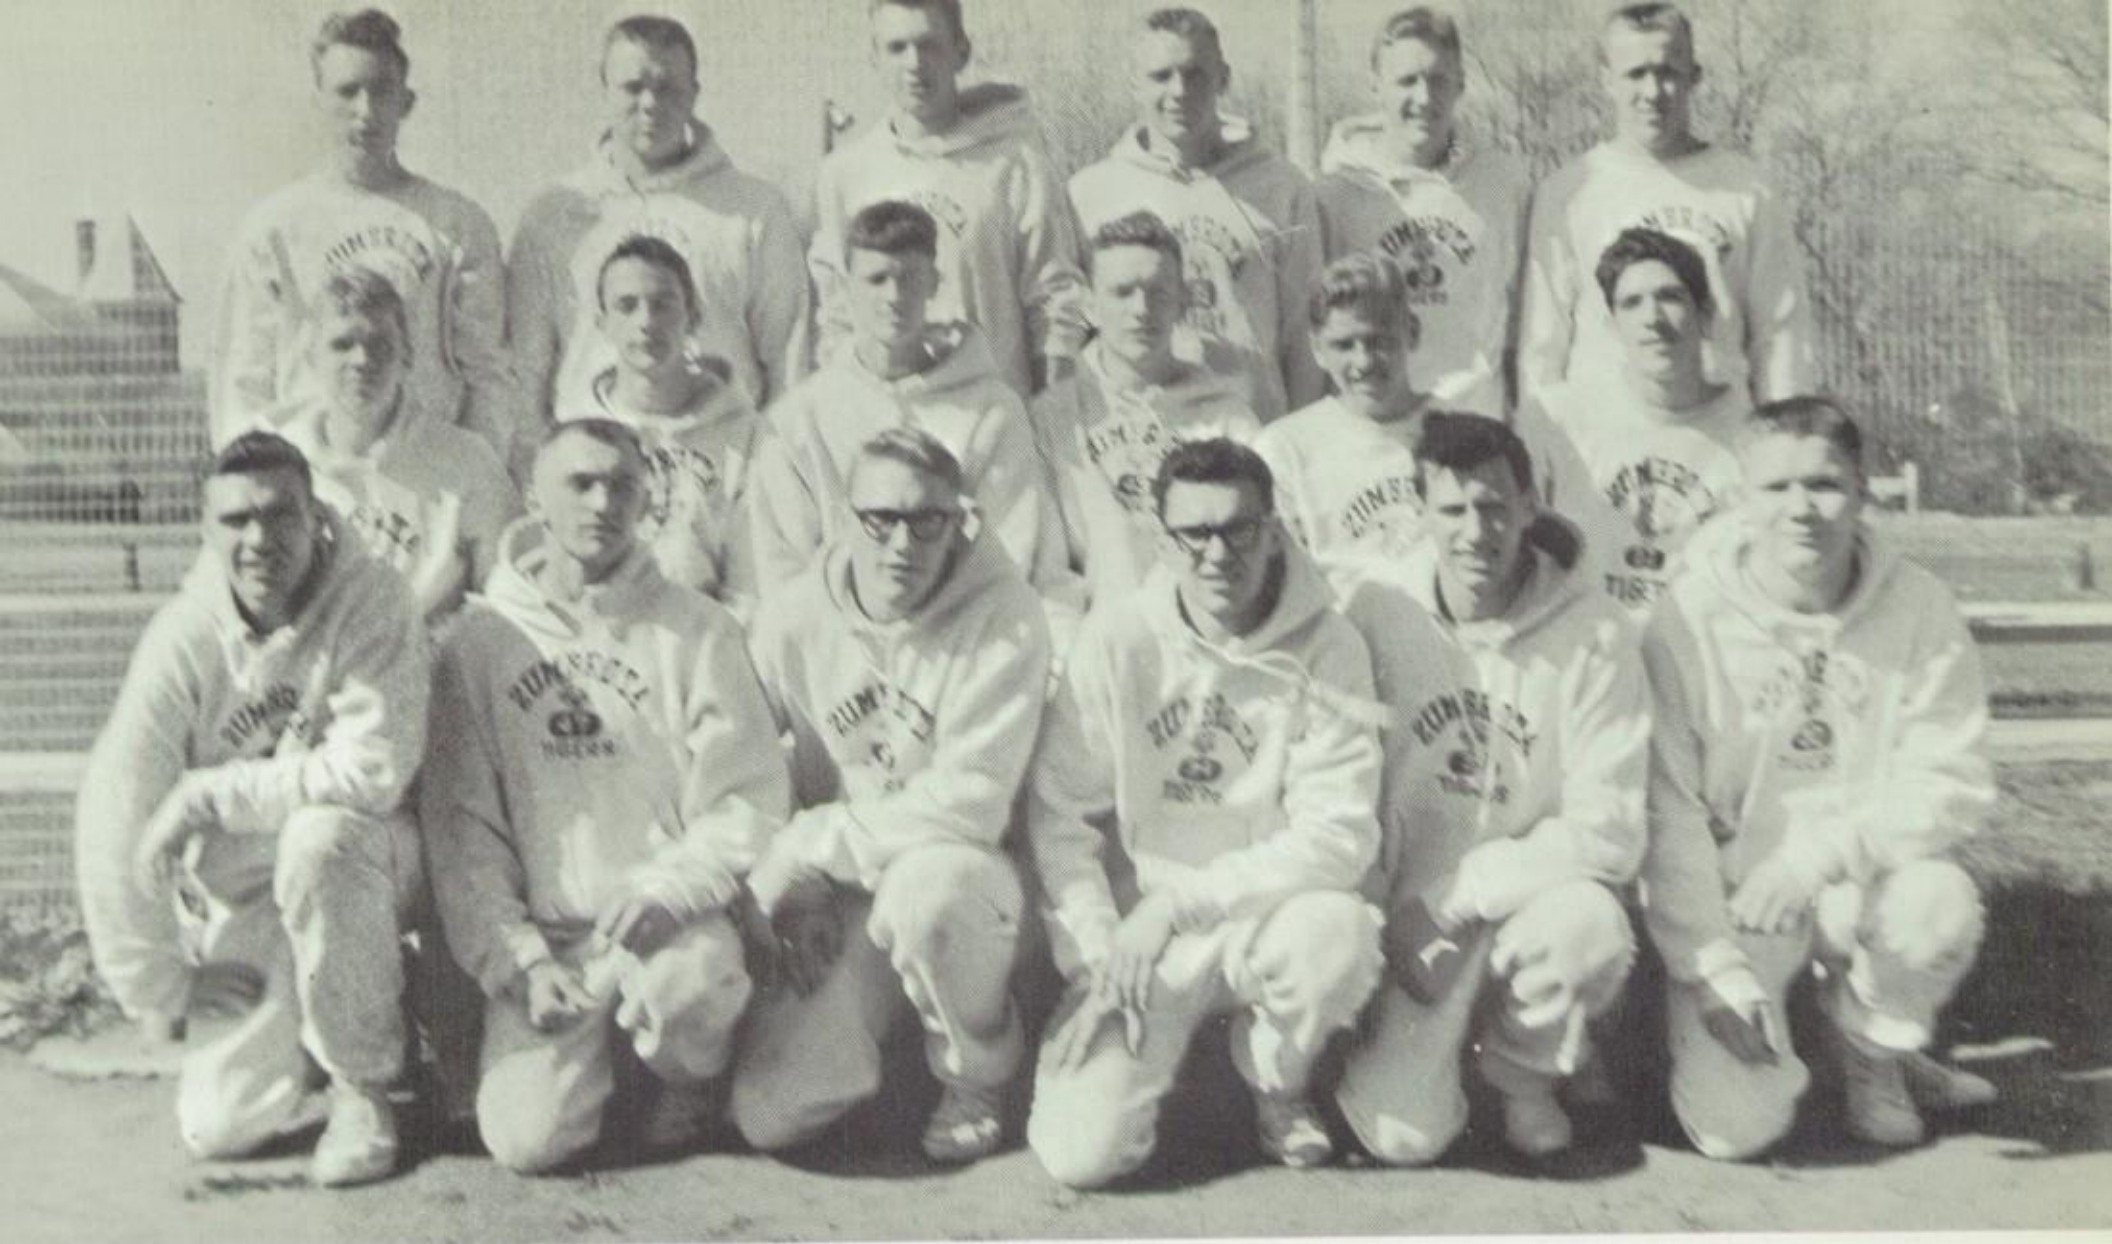

In the 880 relay events, four of the relay men of Zumbrota broke the record with a 1:35.7. They were Dick Bjugan, Duane Nordvold, Bill Esser, and Larry Evert.

A fourth and final record was broken in the mile relays when Zumbrota's team of Larry Stechman, Larry Evert, Bill Esser, and Ernest Kempf came in with the time of 3:44.0.

This is an excellent showing for Zumbrota High School. Zumbrota has only had a track team for about six years and has shown such increasing strength and ability since then. With Mr. Houdek as coach and Mr. Skalbeck as assistant coach, Zumbrota's track team is certainly a team to be proud of.

SCHOOL LIFE

1962 Homecoming Memories Linger

Vigorous campaigning preceded the 1962 Homecoming. Queen candidates Jean Fennie, Sally Jo Nelson, and Julie Steberg; and king candidates Jim Hoven, Dale Lothar and Harold Schliep were deeply involved in campaigning. Managers and friends practically replastered school halls with posters; supporters were walking billboards; streamers hung from ceilings --the school took on a covered look.

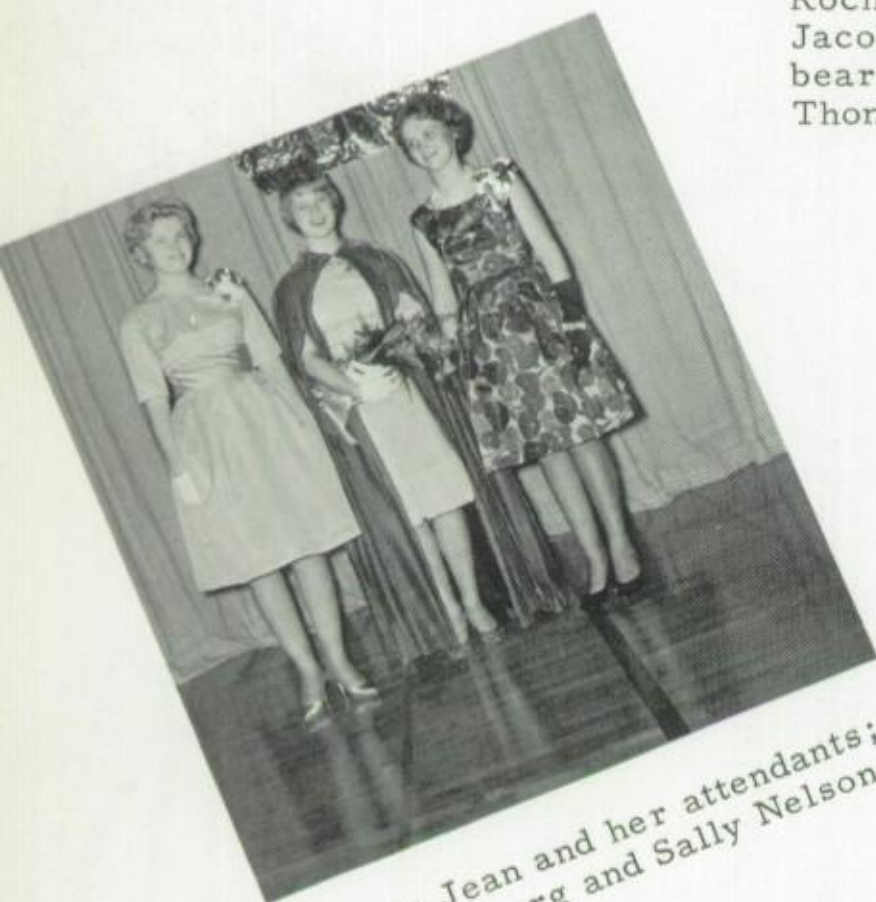

Excitement mounted. The coronation was well attended. A pep band led the procession, followed by sophomore and junior attendants (Sharon Birmingham, Paul Tollefsrud, Rochelle Låreau and Steve Jacobson) and the crown bearers Carrie and Eric Thompson.

After an acknowledgment from the attendants, Sidney Anderson extended a warm welcome. While drums rolled and tension mounted, Karen S. Berg, 1961 Homecoming Queen, finally crowned Jim Hoven who in turn crowned Queen Jeanne Fennie.

The football game on Friday was well attended and the Saturday evening dance was a great success. Although the 1962 Homecoming is over, its memories will linger long in the halls of dear old Z.H.S. and in the minds of students.

Angel Street Provided Thrills

A Victorian thriller with continuing suspense to the very end, ANGEL STREET, provided fall audiences with many thrills.

The action centered around Mr. Manningham (Gary Paulson) who married a wealthy lady (Margo Maas) for her money so that it could be used to purchase the residence of the late Alice Barlow. As the plot unfolded, it was discovered that Alice Barlow had been murdered by Mr. Manningham because he wanted to gain possession of her rubies which he never found. Mr. Manningham used his wife's money to purchase the Barlow residence in order to continue his search for the jewels. While attempting to find the rubies, Mr. Manningham also attempted to drive his wife insane so he could run off with the delightful maid, Nancy (Kathy Lair). Mrs. Manningham might have gone insane if it had not been for a motherly housekeeper Elizabeth (Ardis Hoeft). All did not go well with Mrs. Manningham until the hero of the day, Sergeant Rough (Russ Lohmann), showed up to solve the mystery.

See How They Run Had Fast Action

The title of the spring play, SEE HOW THEY RUN which was sponsored by the junior class, gave a hint of some of the fast action that took place from curtain to curtain. The play involved the bizarre happenings in a British vicarage.

The the curtain rose, Miss Skillon was registering one of her many complaints to Mr. Lionel Toop against his wife, Penelope. Penelope, a former American actress, did not, in Miss Skillon's eyes, behave as suits the wife of a vicar. The real excitement started when an old actor friend of Penelope's, Clive Winton, showed up and Miss Skillon thought he and Penelope were sweethearts. Miss Skillon got involved in the reenactment of one of Penelope's and Clive's old scenes in a play, and she ended up a bit "squiffy" or "tight as an owl" as the maid, Ida, put it. Matters become complicated with the arrival of Penelope's uncle, the Bishop of Lax, and another vicar who was to take the service for Lionel, a Mr. Humphrey. Another man on the scene in vicars' clothing was an escaped Russian prisoner who attacked Lionel and took his clothes. As the plot reached a peak Miss Skillon staggered in and out of a closet which became increasingly inhabited by others, and Lionel was running after Clive in his underwear brandishing a fire poker. When the English "bobby" showed up looking for the Russian, the problem became one of determining who Penelope's husband was. The Bishop thought Clive was her husband. The Russian, had a gun in Penelope's back making her say he was her husband, but Miss Skillon still thought Clive was Mrs. Toop's sweetheart. The conflict was right in the end however, when Ida, rang the church bells which made the Russian think it was "the final conflagration." Everything was explained by Penelope and Clive and all ended well, except Miss Skillon who ended up sprawled out over the floor!

An Overpraised Season Uncovers ZHS Talent

AN OVERPRAISED SEASON, a play of ideas, was the production which represented the dramatic efforts of Zumbrota students at the District IV One Act Play Contest. Also, this play was presented to the Zumbrota P.T.A. at their May meeting.

This play was basically concerned with exploring the characters of the actors from the view point of intelligent teenagers rather than through the eyes of adults who often think teenagers are either giggling nitwits or savages.

Characters in the play included the Director, portrayed by Pat Jensen, who stepped out of the play to talk seriously with the audience about the conflicts among the characters. Other characters were Bob (Conway Marvin), Bob's Father (Russ Lohmann), Bob's Girl friend Betty (Gloria Halvorson), Larry (Don Anderson), and Larry's Mother (Marit Lomen). Marlene Post was not one of the characters, but she assisted the cast in her role as prompter. The faculty director of the production was Miss Janet Hall, while Julie Brunner functioned as student director.

Jr. High Students Find School Life Interesting

A junior high party was held during the cold and snowy months of winter for all students in grades seven through nine. A full program of entertainment was planned so that there was never a dull moment.

The evening's activities included games, skits, and a basket social. The games consisted of a life saver relay, wink-em, and a sack race which the seventh grade won. The entertainment was a variety of skits performed by Junior High students. Among these was a Norwegian dialogue done by Sheri Berg and Bette Matthees, a duet by Mary Loken and Diane Nelson, a "let's pretend" operation on Sheri Berg by master surgeons Bette Matthees, Lea Ann Nordvold, and Nancy Nelson, a Charleston dance by Jane Hoven, Martha Marvin, Linda Stiller, and Janet Brunner, and a class room "take-off" done by Linda Ellingson, Jerome McWaters, Bonnie Brooks, Ted Parkins, and Bonnie Ball. The climax of the evening was a basket social where fancy baskets full of delicious morsels of food were auctioned off by Mr. Rudolph as the girls sat on pins and needles waiting to find out who would buy their baskets.

Students Look Forward to Sloppy Joe Day and Halloween

Sloppy Joe Day and Halloween window painting are two events which are looked forward to by ZHS students. Both are a deviation from routine school life, which gives students a chance to "let off steam" in an imaginative and unified manner.

Sloppy Joe Day, an annual event at ZHS, gives students a chance to relax and wear their sloppiest clothes. For this event all dress code regulations are dropped; thus students are seen in costumes of all sizes and shapes. All in all, the day proves to be hilariously funny and most unusual for all involved.

Halloween provides an opportunity for ZHS students to show their artistic talents and also win prizes. Each year, through the cooperation of local business men and the school administration, students are invited to paint the store windows on Main Street. The windows are covered with ghosts, witches, black cats, and hob goblins to give Main Street the scary atmosphere of Halloween activities.

Classroom Activities Add Interest to School Life

School days, school days, good old golden rule days! Not all students feel that way about school, but the classroom activities such as those indicated on this page make school more interesting. The chemistry lab gives the students a chance to see textbook laws and theories in practice. In industrial arts boys learn how to use tools and how to make and build projects with their own hands--often their experiences in shop lead to lifetime hobbies. This year the trigonometry class had a chance to work with an electronic computer. Younger students explored things around them through experiments and projects in general science. The home economics classes gave future homemakers an understanding of sewing, cooking, child care and home furnishing with the added spice of a preschool play--school and a study of foreign foods. Eighth grade English classes had an opportunity to explore their acting abilities during a unit on drama. Yes, classroom activities have made school life interesting.

Could Have Danced All Night

"I could have danced all night" was the feeling of many students while in attendance at the annual Valentines Dance and Spring Dance. These dances, along with several sock-hops and after-game dances, added much to school life during the 1962-63 school year.

The Valentines Dance this year was sponsored by the Junior Class. The lunchroom was decorated in red and white streamers with a huge archway. Cut-outs of cupids and hearts provided a setting which presented an air of romance. One of the most popular forms of entertainment was sending "Heart-o-grams" to those at the dance.

The last social function of the year was the Spring Dance. The theme was "Treasure Beneath the Blue." A large treasure chest full of jewelry and doubloons on the dancing floor, with the entire gym decorated in underwater colors by the sophomore class, provided an atmosphere which was fitting to the theme. The highlight of the evening was an impersonation of "Crazy" by Larry Evert.

"Z" Club Is Energetic

The "Z" Club has shown much enthusiasm in their activities in the past year. They have sponsored car washes, mixers, the annual "Z" Club banquet, and other such activities. These were not only profitable to the "Z" Club, but some of their activities added to the general enjoyment of extracurricular life at ZHS.

A-V and Ushers Clubs Serve School

This year the Ushers Club has served the school and the public by helping people find seats, handing out programs, and taking tickets at the various school functions.

The Audio Visual Club has proven once again to be a great help in making studies more interesting through showing available movies. The use of a special Audio Visual room downstairs in the high school has made it possible to show more movies under more favorable conditions.

ZHS is fortunate to have these clubs that provide a service that is beneficial to students and visitors. It is unfortunate that the work of these clubs often goes unrecognized.

Music Department ZHS

The main objective of the Zumbrota music department is to bring about a better understanding and appreciation of music through band and chorus. This year the Senior Band and Senior Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Duane Carlson, did just that. Mr. Carlson stated that the band and chorus had made great strides toward their goal of music appreciation through their many practice sessions and rehearsals, by going on several trips, and by participating in several contests.

The Mixed Chorus, composed of sixty-four members, had a busy season. The first major performance of the year by the Chorus was at the annual Christmas Concert on December 20. Sacred songs as well as the traditional "Twas the Night Before Christmas" selection were presented. Their next performance was at the District IV Music Contest in February where they received a "B" rating.

The Chorus endeavors for the year were climaxed by singing for baccalaureate and commencement exercises. It was here that the twelve seniors in the group sang as members of the Z.H.S. Chorus for the last time.

Has a Rewarding Year

The sixty-one member Senior Band, like the Chorus, had a very active year. In conjunction with gaining a better understanding and appreciation of music and bettering their musical skills, the Z.H.S. Band presented performances at the Christmas Concert on December 20th, at the Hiawatha Valley League Clinic at Kenyon in February, at the Spring Concert on May 9th, and at the District IV Music Contest in April. At the contest the Z.H.S. Band received an "A" rating for their contest selections and an "A-" rating for the sight reading selection.

Other noteworthy performances by the Senior Band were at all the home football and basketball games, at the sub-district tournament game, at the pep fests, and at the Homecoming game where they put on a half time show. They made their last official appearance of the 1962-63 season when they marched in the Zumbrota Memorial Day Parade.

Junior High Band and Chorus Gain Experience

The Junior Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Alvin Nordvold, and the Junior Band, under the direction of Mr. Duane Carlson, worked earnestly at developing their musical skill and talents throughout the year.

The Junior Chorus provided the seventh and eighth graders a chance to develop their musical talents and skills while also gaining a better understanding and appreciation of music.

The two major performances by the Junior Chorus were at the Christmas Concert and at the May meeting of the P.T.A. Though the seventy members gave only two performances, they practiced twice weekly.

The purpose of the Junior Band is to give beginning instrumental students experience in playing with others. The Junior Band, composed of forty members, made their only appearance at the Spring Concert in May; however, they met three days each week to gain experience and to better prepare themselves for membership in the Senior Band.

Councils Work Together

This year the Student Councils merged to write up a more effective constitution to promote better relations between the students and teachers. Although the student councils organized Homecoming, approved fund raising activities, promoted special projects and under-wrote school clubs, the administration limited the councils' power so that they would not take over unauthorized duties.

The Senior Student Council worked on a school dress code to include all school activities and submitted it to the administration. To help raise funds for a foreign exchange student they co-sponsored a sock hop after a basketball game. Besides these two activities, they organized and carried out plans for the Christmas program, Homecoming and Halloween window painting, which are their annual events.

The Junior High Student Council sponsored two Junior High Parties this year. One party, in the winter, consisted of games, skits and a basket social. The other party was a roller skating party in April. The Junior High Council added something new to the school year by having a sixth grade orientation day. They sent letters to the parents of all sixth grade students to let them know what the students would need next year for school. Along with the letter a copy of the dress code was sent. Near the end of the school year the Junior Council purchased the citizenship awards and appointed a committee of teachers to select the recipients. They also paid for the awards given at the Junior High Track Meet.

FFA Has Busy Year

The ZHS FFA chapter participated in many activities this year. Last fall, in collaboration with the Red Wing, Lake City, Kenyon, Goodhue, and Wanamingo FFA's, the FFA participated in a hog sale. ZHS also had two judging teams whiz right through district and regional competition to the state convention where the teams competed and the delegates attended business meetings. Another member of this excursion was Darren Pahl. Darren is a holder of the highest degree given by the Minnesota FFA.

Not all was hard work however. In the spring the boys attended a district banquet. The end of the school year brought on the educational-recreational tour where the boys toured several places surrounding the St. Paul area and then went on to Bullstring Lodge for fishing.

FHA Moves Toward New Horizons

During the 1962-63 school year, Zumbrota FHA'ers participated in a variety of activities which provided them with knowledge, experience, and abilities which will be invaluable to the future lives of the present chapter members.

Participation on the state and district levels were the highlights of the local chapter's activities. At the FHA State Convention, Sharon Birmingham, of the Zumbrota chapter, was chosen as a candidate for State Treasurer. Although Sharon did not win the election she and Mrs. Blaisdell, the chapter advisor, returned from the State Convention and described to the local group the planned FHA activities and events for the next school year which were outlined at the State Convention.

At the District meeting, Zumbrota chapter members took part in discussions on family living, citizenship, education, and discovering yourself. Kathy Lohmann was nominated for District IV Vice President; however, a West Concord girl was elected.

The FHA girls discussed various topics as a part of their regular meetings. Discussions on democracy, early marriage, and health proved to be enlightening to the group.

Socially, local chapter members enjoyed a few special activities. On one occasion the girls journeyed to Wanamingo where they met for a joint meeting and some social activities with the Wanamingo chapter. The activity which the girls most enjoyed during the year was their trip to Minneapolis where they attended a cinerama movie and spent some time shopping. Climaxing the FHA'ers year was their Mother's Day Tea which is an annual FHA project that emphasizes "Family Togetherness."

to help with all the tedious tasks as: checking out books, keeping the library neat, mending books, maintaining attractive bulletin boards, etc.

Zumbrota's Library Club is no exception. The Club consists of about twenty girls who unselfishly devote their time to the aid of Miss Lines.

One of the most important and strategic places in a school is always the library. Without it, students would not get those term papers done; that work sheet for history would seem hopeless to finish; and where else but the library can you find a current daily newspaper to read up on the latest sports happenings, fashion trends, and comic stories? With all these jobs, the librarian can't do it all alone. A library club is needed

Declam Gives Speech Experience

These students in Declam have been very busy this year with the different contests. Entering in competition in the many fields has proven very beneficial to the girls because of the experience it gives.

Debate Offers Stiff Competition

The topic this year in Debate was "Should the United States Join the Common Market?" In order to be able to debate well, these students took hours and hours of research to uncover every aspect of the Common Market. The teams did very well in competition, and gained a lot of experience in debate.

GAA Girls Have "Vigah"

With physical fitness being stressed more all the time in consequence of the Kennedy "vigah" program, the GAA made a concentrated effort to keep in physical condition. Along with the concentrated effort came many fun-filled experiences and pleasurable get-togethers. The organization is divided into a junior and a senior high group. The activities during the year included volleyball, trampoline, basketball, tumbling, shuffleboard, softball, and bowling. In addition to participating in their regular physical activities the girls enjoyed themselves at the Halloween party, bike ride, playday, (with several surrounding schools in attendance) and a picnic at the end of the year. The junior high group had a 'X-mas and April Fool's party besides. As these girls can tell you, physical fitness is not hard to maintain if you work at it--and it's fun!

Publications's Staffs Gain Journalistic Experience

Students of ZHS are provided an opportunity to express themselves and to gain experience in journalistic techniques by serving on the publication staffs. The two major publications are the Zummy, the school newspaper, and the Tiger, the school yearbook. Staffs of both the Zummy and Tiger have been engulfed in a busy and productive year.

Zummy staff members, headed by editor Sally Nelson, have, throughout the year, consistently provided ample and adequate news copy so as to facilitate the weekly publication of school news on the Zummy page of the Zumbrota News. Students and Zummy staff members can be very proud of the content and the amount of news which has been published this year. The news has been interesting as well as informative to students, parents, and the community.

The Tiger staff, under the direction of co-editors, Becky Kalass and Jeanne Fennie, has been busy throughout the year gathering pictures and stories for their fifty-six page 1963 Tiger. Planning, organizing and financing activities, which are largely done by the editors, comprise a large and important part of the work involved in preparing the book for publication. It is hoped, by the Tiger editors and staff, that the 1963 Tiger will present an interesting and sufficiently complete presentation of the year's activities and events.

Members of the publication staffs gain numerous learning experiences. Chief among their gains are experiences in assuming responsibility, organizing, planning, creative thinking, writing journalistically, and developing a sense of values.

National Honor Society Works Toward Goals

The National Honor Society is composed of students in grades ten through twelve. To become a member, a student must first qualify in the field of scholarship. He is then considered on the basis of leadership, character, and service. A student who is eligible must receive a majority vote from the faculty in order to become a member.

This year the Society worked toward two major goals. They were: promoting a fund for the purpose of getting a Foreign Exchange Student for Zumbrota, and planning a money raising program for the Student Loan Fund. Other annual duties of the Society were the purchasing of Freshman Trophies and honor medals, and the advance ticket sales for the Achievement Banquet.

On April 19, 1963, four new members were installed into membership. They were Ruth Ann Deden, Alice Grimsrud, Carolyn Finstuen, and Susan Johnson. The other members of the Society were Sally Nelson, Ardis Hoeft, Jane Fredrickson, Kathy Lohmann, Lynn Knutson, and Marit Lomen.
